SALIENT POINTS OF THE WOMAN VOTERS' SITUATION.

Latest reports of the importance of the women's vote in the forthcoming Presidential election are incorporated in the accompanying article. They show widespread interest in widely scattered sections of the country, the only indifference being displayed in the hidebound Solid South. There the registration is comparatively small, and in Georgia the women cannot vote, despite the Nineteenth Amendment, because the Legislature failed to pass an enabling act. On page 6 will be found a separate article explaining just why negro women have not registered in other Southern States.

NEW YORK—Registration (not fully reported) almost equals that of men. Republican women better organized than Democratic sisters. Motor corps in every county to get out voters.

BOSTON—Entire State enthusiastic over heavy registration of women, and those barred by time limit plan legal action to get their votes in.

PHILADELPHIA—Vast majority of women lining up with the Republican party, Democratic registration being especially small. Some are expected to vote the Prohibition ticket because of personal objection to Boies Penrose.

ATLANTA—Women barred from voting this year because Legislature failed to pass an enabling act. Majority opposed to suffrage anyhow.

NEW ORLEANS—Heavy registration in the cities. Anti-administration sentiment strong, but hardly strong enough to cause women voters to bolt the Democratic party.

sentiment strong, but hardly strong enough to cause women voters to bolt the

NEW YORK, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1920.

Women in Every Section Anxious to Vote; Registration Heavy, Organization Strong

Reports From Widely Separated Parts of the Country Show Intense Interest in Campaign Issues, Systematic Plans for Bringing Feminine Voters to the Polls and Special Schools for Instructing New Holders of the Franchise---Solid South Alone Indifferent, Though Enrolment in Louisiana Is Fairly Heavy---Georgia Women Barred by Lack of Enabling Act

THAT are the women going to do in the coming election? Are they going to vote as do their husbands? Will they vote in a greater proportion to those registered than do the men? How are they organized? Are the party lines as definitely defined as in other Presidential years? Do the registration figures thus far completed show that the women's interest in the election is active or merely cursory?

These are only a few of the many questions perplexing politicians of the old school and careful observers of public events. In an effort to get a definite line on the trend of the woman's vote THE NEW YORK HERALD recently published an analytical symposium of the figures from the States whose women voted in the Presidential election of 1916.

To-day there is presented another care.

voted in the Presidential election of 1916.
To-day there is presented another careful estimate, this time from NEW YORK HERALD correspondents in widely scattered parts of the country, not necessarily from old suffrage States.
Each reader will draw his own conclusions from the reports presented, but it will doubtless be agreed that this year will show the women flocking to the polls in numbers totally unexpected by the professional politicians, much as they did in Maine.

New York

T has been estimated that the number of women entitled to vote in the State of New York is 3,033,273, the number of men 3,199,772. These calculations are based on census figures.

Political leaders calculate that not much more than half the number of persons said to be qualified to vote will register. In other words, something over 3,000,000 will be the total registration when the figures have been compiled, in the opinion of leaders.

The enrolment for this last year (the enrolment figures for the coming year will not be ready before January) was: Republican, 1.291,000; Democratic, 967,000.

This will be the third year that women have voted in New York State. In 1917 the Republicans cast 600,000 votes. In 1918, the first year of women at the polls, the Republican vote was about 1,000,000 in the State. Last year the total Republican vote (the total of the vote on Assemblymen) was 1,156,000. It was estimated that two-thirds as many women voted the Republican ticket

Being Organized Steadily.

The organization of women has been going on for practically three years in New York State. The Republicans have perfected a wonderfully effective organization. The Democratic women have been beset by dissension, resulting finally in Mrs. John Sherwin Crosby, their leader, going over to the Republican party. Miss Elisabeth Marbury, since September 1, has been working hard to build up an organization along the lines of the Republican, but the time has been

Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore has formed a woman's organization for the Republicans which in all essential features is an exact duplicate of the men's. Each county has its own leader, who has a representative in each election district. All through the State campaign schools have been operated, teaching the women how to work, how to speak and explaining the issues of the campaign.

Every Monday afternoon during the summer the Women's Executive Committee has had a forum at its headquarters. Hotel Vanderoilt, prominent speakers being provided for the women. Every Tuesday afternoon there have been speakers' lasses.

A motor corps has been organized, with a chairman in every county, to aid in campaign work and to get out the vote on election day. Tremendous quantities of literature have been distributed to women, some of it prepared by the women's organization. Distinctively women's meetings have been held all over the State. Campaign funds have been collected.

On paper the Democratic woman's organization is much the same as the Republican, based on the election district as the unit, based on the election district as the unit, Massachusetts people.

with the county coming next. Each one of the 7,221 districts is expected to raise $10. a perfectly organized machine and the better organized and what little work is

MRS. DOUGLAS ROBINSON. Speaker in Judge Nathan L. Miller's Campaign.

MRS. GEORGE BASS. Chicago suffrage leader.

One of the prominent society women active in the political campaign.

speakers and held meetings and luncheons

As is the case of the Republican women.

who have separate headquarters at the Vanderbilt, the Democratic women direct their work from distinctive headquarters in Chicago

had spent years at it, and have organizations which compare favorably with the men's—especially when one considers how long men have monopolized this field. Official returns of last Tuesday's registration compiled yesterday show that out of the 900,765 persons qualified to vote in Chi-cago alone 339,361 of them are women.

The Republican women, under the leader-ship of Mrs. Ernest C. Griffin, their State chairman, have a list of 15,000 women in Illinois, every one of whom is actively at work for the ticket. Every precinct in the State is represented in this army, which was formed early in the summer after an ex-haustive survey of the State, and through a poll of women voters.

The Democrats are also organized to man, but most of her work is done down man, but most of her work is done down State, since there is a separate chairman for Cook and Lake counties, which include Chi-cago and suburbs. The Democrats have 4,000 women actively at work, exclusive of those in the municipalities.

Women's headquarters of both parties are anxiously awaiting the tabulation of the latest registration figures, to learn which registered the most women votes.

Boston

cover every Congressional district, county and every municipality. Mrs. How-ard T. Wilson of Virden is the State chair-man, but most of her works.

MISS MABEL CHOATE. come out for Cox.

The women hope to run their campaign without calling on the men for financial assistance. But the real organization is just Democratic party machine for women can-not be compared with it. G. O. P. women voters is being put over by the Republican not be compared with it. G. O. P. women have thoroughly organized every city, town, Since September 8 the Democratic women have sent out 1,000,000 pieces of literature to voters of their sex. They have assigned number of women, and when registration closed in Boston there were 10,000 disappointed ones. In Boston a delegation of women who were waiting to sign the lists when the offices closed have lodged formal protest with a threat of legal action be-7 OMEN of both the Republican and cause they are denied the vote through not

Democratic parties have taken The following table shows how the women hold of politics in Illinois as if they of the State have registered in the cities with the	men:

Place.		Men.	Wome
Boston		. 129,680	68,7
Beverly		. 5,075	3,3
Cambridge		. 78,625	15.9
Chelsea		. 6,045	2.9
			3,0
Haverhill .		. 10,229	6,2
			7.4
Lynn		. 18,700	18,0
Lowell		18,067	11,9
Medford		9,500	4.5
Newburypo	rt	3,662	2,44
Newton		9,000	7,10
Revere		4,860	3,31
Salem	*	9,500	5,36
Somerville	*	77,637	9.86
			5,96
Worcester	*	31,152	21,86

Philadelphia

THE women of Philadelphia are apathetic toward the outcome of the approaching Presidential election, and this condition apparently holds true throughout the State of Pennsylvania despite the showing made on registration day, when 2,325,408 of them registered, as against OMEN of Massachusetts are flock-ing to registration places Political leaders are inclined to the belief that a vast number of them registered merely for the novelty and will pay no more ating to registration places as if they believed they alone were to do all tention to their voting privilege. This believed they alone were to do all tention to their voting privilege. This believed they alone were to do all tention to their voting privilege. This believed they alone were to do all tention to their voting privilege. This believed they alone were to do all tention to their voting privilege. This believed they alone were to do all tention to their voting privilege. This believed they alone were to do all tention to their voting privilege. This believed they alone were to do all tention to their voting privilege. This believed they alone were to do all tention to their voting privilege. This believed they alone were to do all tention to their voting privilege. This believed they alone were to do all tention to their voting privilege. This believed they alone were to do all tention to their voting privilege. This believed they alone were to do all tention to their voting privilege. This believed they alone were to do all tention to their voting privilege. This believed they alone were to do all tention to their voting privilege. This believed they alone were to do all tention to their voting privilege. This believed they alone were to do all tention to their voting privilege. est in their newly acquired privilege has been completely dispelled from the minds of form, the vast majority of them lining up with the Republican party, with the Demo-

MRS. CALVIN COOLIDGE.

have thoroughly organized every city, town, ward, precinct, and even block, in the State: are working night and day for the Republican can slate. Hundreds of women who might ordinarily be termed "of the Democratic party," are going to vote the Republican ticket, for they are undeniably against any itcket, for they are undeniably against any corresponding to the fight between Harding and Cox, and this opposition is Statewide, Women leaders were disappointed at the working night and day for the Republican ranks is an opposition to Senator Penrose, who is up for reelection. In fact, that seems stronger than their concern about the fight between Harding and Cox, and this opposition is Statewide, Women leaders were disappointed at the making any appreciable gains in Louisiana at the polls is folly so long as Republican catering to negro vote and white supremacy leaders. State's control of suffrage. The last Republican National Convention recognized the black and tan Republicans and rejected the lack and tan Republicans and reje against Penrose's reactionary tendencies and his opposition to women's suffrage, but it is not believed it will crystallize with sufficient

An added factor, according to the leaders, is that many women will vote the straight Prohibition ticket in the Presidential elec-

Atlanta

HE women of Georgia will not vote in the November election, as they were prevented from registering by strict law, which requires the closing of the registration lists six months before an election. Under this law the lists were closed before the proclamation of the ratification of the Suffrage Amendment, and no enabling act was passed by the Legislature to provide for the registration of the women.

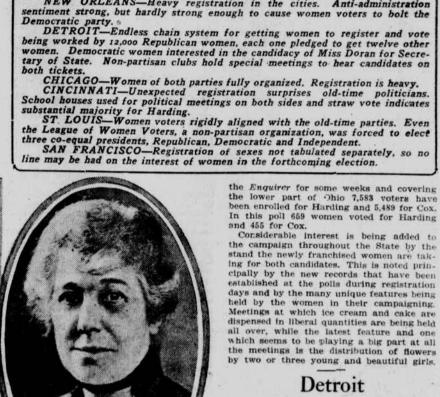

The women, as a rule, do not appear to be distressed by this. As a matter of fact, the great majority of the white women of the State are opposed to equal suffrage. The negro women, however, have shown some

New Orleans

N New Orleans 25,000 women registered. as compared with 55,000 men. A smaller ratio registered in the country districts, but the exact figures are not available. While a considerable anti-Administration and anti-league sentiment exists in southern and urban Louisiana, this will not be appre-clably reflected in the vote, which will go as usual by overwhelming majority for the Democratic candidates in a total vote that will hardly be over one-third of the total

Louisiana's local offic'als are all practically selected in the Democratic primaries, and there is no organized opposition. The Democratic nomines for Senator, who will he elected without opposition, was the progressive candidate for Lieutenant-Governor four years ago, and supported Hughes. The present Democratic Governor was the progressive candidate for Governor four years ago and progressive candidate for Vice-President a few months later, but supported lican National Convention recognized the lack and tan Republicans and rejected the against Penrose's reactionary tendencies and lily whites from Louisians

HARRIET MAY MILLS. Daughter of former Ambassador has Wife of the Republican nominee for Democratic Nominee for Secretary of State of New York.

Cincinnati

FTER the adoption by the thirty-sixth State of the suffrage amendment, thereby putting it into full force and effect, beginning with the Presidential election of 1920, political wiseacres in Ohio predicted that the new responsibilities accorded women would make little difference so far as Cincinnati was concerned, as few of them would take advantage of the opportunity to exercise the right of suffrage. Practically none would be found taking any part in campaign activities, it was added. This prophecy was based on the reputation of Cincinnati for conservativeness, a heritage of its large German population.

How far wrong these prophets were is shown by the fact that at almost every po-litical meeting held here thus far in the campaign there have been almost as many women in attendance as men, while in many cases women have been the spellbinders, and by the fact that women have flocked to the polls to register by the thousands.

In the first two days of the four days of registration a total of 92,009 voters registered, of whom 28,621 were women and 53,388 were men. Even with the women registering, a factor which was absent four years ago, the registration is running far short of the registration in 1916, also a Presidential year, a condition ascribed to apathy among the men.

Both major parties have encouraged the participation of women in the campaign, an opportunity that has been seized upon by women of both political persuasions. The Democratic women seem to be a bit more active and aggressive than the Republican women. They have formed ward organiza-tions with women leaders, and hold nightly meetings with both men and women speakers. The Republican women also are organized, but not so minutely.

The Board of Education has opened the schoolhouses for political railies, but has requested that the meetings held there be devoted principally to the instruction of women in voting and that participantly he

In the course of a straw poll carried by the Enquirer for some weeks and covering the lower part of Thio 7,583 voters have been enrolled for Harding and 5,489 for Cox. In this poll 659 women voted for Harding and 455 for Cox.

Considerable interest is being added to the campaign throughout the State by the stand the newly franchised women are taking for both candidates. This is noted principally by the new records that have been established at the polls during registration days and by the many unique features being days and by the many unique features being held by the women in their campaigning. Meetings at which ice cream and cake are dispensed in liberal quantities are being held all over, while the latest feature and one which seems to be playing a big part at all the meetings is the distribution of flowers by two or three young and beautiful girls.

Detroit

ICHIGAN women are evincing a lively interest in both the national and State campaigns, indicated by the numbers of them who are registering by the numbers of them who are registering to vote and their attendance at political meetings. Of the 250,000 voters in Detroit, more than 40 per cent, are women.

A great part of the registration on the part of women is attributed to the efforts of leaders among the club women of the State and the various women's political organizations. In Detroit there are several women's political clubs representing both parties. They are all banded together under the head of the Women Voters League and have made a house to house canvass in an have made a house to house canvass in an effort to get women voters out to register. The Women's Republican Club and leagues.

together with several other organizations of women, are supporting Senator Harding and are working hard for his election. The Re-publican women have arranged and held more political meetings in Detroit, Saginaw and Grand Rapids than even the regular organizations and committees headed by the

their own separate from the men'e branch and are conducting their own campaign in-dependently under the leadership of Mrs.

Edgar Allen and Miss Bina West,
The women members of the ways and means committee of the State, working under the direction of the national committee, have organized 12,000 throughout the State, each one of whom is pledged to get twelve other women to register and vote. While greatly outnumbered and not so well organized as their Republican sisters, the Democratic women of Michigan are active in the politics of their party. A new source of interest was added to the campaign for them by the nomination of Catherine Doran for Secretary of State by the Democratic State convention. Miss Doran is the first woman to become a candidate for a State office in Michigan.

The various non-political women's organizations of the State are quite active in things political also. Many of them, being non-partisan, have held special meetings to hear candidates on both tickets

St. Louis

OMEN in both parties are taking a most active interest in politics in Missouri. In St. Louis, where all voters were required to register September, 127,000 women out of 312,000 voters registered.

Glendy B. Arnold, chairman of the Board Glendy B. Arnold, chairman of the Board of Election Commissioners in St. Louis, estimated before registration that 60,000 would be the maximum of women to register. Voters in the rural districts of Missouri are not required to register. Before the State conventions the women demanded representation as delegates and attended the conventions, both as delegates and visitors, where they emphatically demanded above. where they emphatically demanded equal representation on committees and party

The Democratic women started their political activities earlier than the Republicans, and claim it has given them better recognition than the Republicans However, that is not conceded. Both parties have given women places on the State committees and women in voting, and that partisanship be executive committees. Each party has an

Continued on Following Pape.